

Bash Revision Sheet (1)

- 1) Write a Bash program that takes two numbers and an operator: -, +, *, / or %. Then, the program should display the result after calculating the result of the arithmetic expression by using:
 - 1) If Statement

- 2) Write a Bash script that takes a filename and a choice (1-7) from the user, and performs the corresponding operation as follows:
 - 1) Display the first 5 lines only.
 - 2) Display the last 2 lines only.
 - 3) Print the count of words in the given file.
 - 4) Print the count of lines in the given file.
 - 5) Rename this file by asking the user for the new name.
 - 6) Display all the words in a file that does not contain the letter 'e'.
 - 7) Change the permission so that users can read/execute, groups can write/execute, others can only execute.